Good morning Jessica,

I'm sorry, but you are mistaken. According to the Vermont Attorney General's prior statements, the Vermont Attorney General is the agency which possesses the authority and jurisdiction over nursing licensure of all nurses licensed prior to 2003.

Please review the Vermont Attorney General's prior statements re: the Vermont Attorney General's licensing authority, and provide the public records I have requested.

It isn't clear from your email, but is the Vermont Attorney General stating that all the licenses he regulates from the year 2003 forward, are no longer valid?

Thank you ever so much,

David Shaddy, RN
